

THE GAZETTE.

THURSDAY MARCH 25.

The best talking machine in this country is the one in congress. It can never be improved upon if it is all that is wanted.

It is estimated that it cost the dominion of Canada eight million dollars to capture and hang Riel. It is doubtful whether the body of such a man as Riel is worth that many millions.

The democratic papers that call the president a mutineer head to him an injustice. The president is simply trying an experiment, that of trying to steer two ways at the same time. Obligations compel him to make this foolish attempt, and when he sees that he can't do it, he will leave the magnum and steer for the democrats.

The wife of Congressman Morrison watches the course of public affairs day by day, studies the tariff and silver questions and is as fully posted as her husband on revenue matters. In that case Mrs. Morrison then understands that her husband's tariff bill will meet a fate which will warrant the statement that he is a very poor tariff reformer.

From the Washington Republican, which is very apt in its appellation: The justice that smites the aldermanic rank of secondaries in New York, while sparing the coal-oil things in Cincinnati and the infamous Harrison brigade in Chicago, resembles the hunter who went out for elephants and came in with a bag of mice.

The State Journal is authority for the statement that professional friends of ex-Senator J. P. Cottrill have been visiting him at the Northern Indiana hospital, near Oskosh, the past few days. They report that his memory is surprisingly accurate, and his understanding clear as to events a few years old, but almost a blank as to more recent events. Physically, he is rapidly failing. He is anxious to be released, but his friends are divided in opinion as to what would be the best course.

A special from Washington says the debate on the Edmunds resolution will be continued till Friday. Messrs. Voorhees, Evans and Ingalls, and three great speeches are expected. It was the intention of the republicans to modify the resolution which declares in favor of rejecting the nominations made to succeed suspended officials where the papers have not been furnished, but just what form the modification will take has not yet been determined upon. It will not be unimportant, but a dozen or more republicans will favor it.

There is some reason to hope that the senate will determine on the consideration of executive business in open session, and it is believed that a majority of the republicans will vote to abolish secrecy in relation to nominations. This proposition has been rapidly gaining favor, and even Senator Edmunds remarked that it looked as if open executive sessions would come pretty soon.

The anti-polygamists of Utah are much concerned over the demand of the president for Governor Murray's resignation. The Mormons on the other hand are loud in their rejoicings over the fact that Governor Murray must go. The Salt Lake Tribune says it was a "cold day" to Utah when President Cleveland asked the governor to resign. He has fought polygamy with a courage and prudence that challenged the admiration of all men who desired to see the Edmunds law enforced. Neither threats nor flattery by the Mormons could frighten or seduce him, and gallantly he contended with the leaders of polygamy and made them feel the power of the law. But just at the most critical time in the history of that territory, when every consideration demanded that he remain at head of affairs in Utah, he is asked to resign and make room for a partisan. The country was astonished at the stop the president took because no reason was given for his removal. The Mormons have secured a victory in this case, at least they would seem to be the fact when they would over the action of the president.

As to the character of the man who will be called to take Governor Murray's place nothing can be said. It is a fact, however, that whoever it may be, he will not be able to contend with the law-breaking Mormons as the present governor has done. It looks as if the president wanted to court the friendship of the polygamists of Utah.

THE PRESIDENCY OF THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

The Recorder of this morning prints the following kind and timely editorial note to regard the illures of the Rev. Olin A. Curtis for the presidency of the State university:

It seems certain that there will be a speedy change in the head of the State university, but the heart of records here has not yet apparently agreed upon a man to whom it offers the position.

The Recorder desires to suggest to that honorable board the name of Rev. Olin A. Curtis of Milwaukee, as that of a man who would be fitted in an eminent degree for that important and responsible place.

Mr. Curtis is a graduate of Appleton college, in this state, and of the Boston school of theology. He is a man whose qualities of head and heart fully qualify him for the head of an institution of learning such as our State university. He is a man who would not only grace the position by his attainments and rail learning but also a man who would command the respect and affection of every one connected with that institution as well as the respectful regard of every citizen of the state. It seems to us that it will be difficult to find a man so fit for the place as Mr. Curtis.

Mr. Curtis's superior. In grace of character, in inherent excellence, in brightness of intellect, in christian endowment, and in all the qualifications that go to make a thorough scholar and a manly man, he stands among the very foremost of the prominent men of Wisconsin. If the board of regents want to honor themselves and confer a special blessing on the state university, they now have an opportunity to do so by selecting Mr. Curtis as president of that institution of learning.

A LETTER FROM MRS. LEW WALLACE.

During the past holiday season, Miss Elizabeth P. H. Little, of Janesville, sent her father, who lives in Maine, a copy of Ben-Hur, which he read with the same deep interest that many thousands of others have done. He is eighty two years old, but wrote a most graceful tribute to that remarkable book and its author, which Miss Little sent to General Lew Wallace. Mrs. Wallace acknowledged the receipt of that letter, and as the note contains some important facts which will interest all friends of Ben-Hur, and reading people generally, the editor of the Gazette made an earnest request for its publication in these columns, which was granted:

CLAYTONVILLE, Ind., March 16, 1886.
My Dear Miss Little: Your letter, with enclosures, has just been received, and I hasten to say for myself and my husband, that such a testimonial from one of your eminent literary sons is the best reward of the author of Ben-Hur. Almost every mail brings friendly remembrances from hands we may never touch, and it is a deep pleasure to know the venture sent out with much misgiving, has such general success. The work occupied all General Wallace's "writing time" for several years. After the vanishing of the Christ-child, to give details of battle, love-making, social life, adventure, and over all to float the banner of the Cross, and keep the Babe of Bethlehem in the mind of the reader as the central figure, was a difficult study. Only one who has tried can understand the extent of reading and foreign memory required. Geikie's Life of Christ was the reference book after the Bible, in the writing of Ben-Hur. Eighty thousand copies have been sold, and still the white camels are coming. It has been translated into German and Russian. The portrait in Harper's Weekly, (March 13) is good.

I thank you for your interest, so well expressed, and for your father's letter, which I return after taking a copy.

Very cordially, yours,
LEW WALLACE.

No American romance since the bright days of Uncle Tom's Cabin, has met with greater success than "Ben-Hur: A tale of the Christ."—a queer title, people thought at the time, but now they see it was the fittest title that could be given that wonderful work. The professional readers in Harper's establishment, after examining the manuscript, thought the book wouldn't pay, but Mr. Fletcher Harper timidly consented to be its publisher, and the book which that firm came near rejecting, has become famous as a classic. It has come like a gracious benediction to thousands, and its kindly influence has not yet ended.

DON'T LIKE HIS COLOR.

If one can judge of the temper of the democratic senators, the indications are that J. C. Matthews, of Albany, New York, will receive their opposition when his confirmation comes up in the senate. President Cleveland nominated him to succeed Frederick Douglass as recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia, a position worth $4,000 a year. Matthews is a colored man—not very dark however—and is a lawyer and a bright scholar. He was a republican up to 1872, but went off after that strange political character, Horace Greeley, when he ran for the presidency in that year.

The nomination of Mr. Matthews caused a good deal of complaint among the spoil democrats. They were opposed to the nomination from the first, chiefly because he was a colored man. When the nomination was referred to the senate District committee, it did not take the democrats on the committee long to manifest their disgust at the nomination, for with a single exception all of them voted adversely on the nomination. The republicans, Ingalls, Pike and Palmer, voted to report favorably, but that made a tie vote, which authorizes the committee to report adversely thereon.

The democratic dislike of the colored race is clearly shown in this case. They don't believe in white democrats good positions are being given to colored men. So that if Mr. Matthews is confirmed at all, it will be done by republican votes. If the president can show good cause why Mr. Douglas was asked to resign, the republican senators should vote for the confirmation of Mr. Matthews.

To show to what class of men the bourbon democratic heart goes on, it is not harsh toward the leaders of the party in Washington, to give a little instance. Senator Gorman has a friend in the person of one Cropley, whom the president has nominated as collector of customs at Georgetown. Cropley has a history. It is charged against him that on one particular occasion he proposed the following toast:

"Here's to the man who pulled the trigger, shot, and killed the man who freed the nigger."

CLOSE CALL FOR A RIOT.

ST. LOUIS MISSES BLOODSHED BY A CLOSE SHAVE.

A Freight Train Gave Off with the Assistance of the Authorities—Exciting Scene—The General Situation—Preparations for Congress to Take a Hand—Powderly and Jay Gould.

PORT WORTH, Tex., March 25.—The Knights of Labor held a six hours' session here Wednesday and it is understood that matters of the greatest importance were discussed. A Knight states that a letter has been received by district assembly No. 78 from General Master Workman Powderly, severely criticizing the strike and declaring the indiscriminate use of the boycott new and unconstitutional and a violation of their charter. It is said that he strenuously urges the men to go back to work. Many of the Knights are said to be indignant at the action of their chief and talk of secession.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Jay Gould was asked Wednesday if there was any prospect that the Missouri Pacific would make a compromise of the strike. He said: "There can be no compromise in this case, and so far as I know, there has been no attempt toward one by either side. There is no room for a compromise, for the strikers have confessed in effect that they have no grievances against our company. I am bound to fight this question to the bitter end." Mr. Gould said also that he would enter suits against prominent Knights of Labor for the losses resulting to the railway by the stoppage of trains.

ST. LOUIS, March 25.—After a great deal of trouble and under the protection of a large force of police and deputy sheriffs the Missouri Pacific got a train of fifteen freight cars out of the city Wednesday. There was an immense crowd present of strikers who tried to "beat the game," but they failed, although the fireman did leave the engine and another one had to be apportioned. The train was safely away the strikers "killed" the switching engine and a proposition was made to attack the shops and run out the "scabs" but not favorably received. A little party of excitement was created by the report that the engine had been called out, but this report arose from the action of some excited fellow who was a man galloping about upon a horse notifying the men that they might be called upon to do duty as a precautionary guard at the armories during the prevalence of the riotous feeling. The telephone was also used, and the news was over the city in a few moments. The fact is, that after the rush at the shops fifty reserve police were upon the ground in five minutes and could not find any one to arrest.

The point of danger Wednesday was immediately after the switching engine was killed. The success of this attack emboldened the strikers, and almost simultaneously with the destruction of the switching engine the cry went up: "On to the shops! On to the shops!" The shout was taken up by the strikers, and they began to march toward the shops. The police were in the front and crossed the line in the direction of the shops. They displayed no weapons and carried no missiles. It was the opportune time for such an attack. There were fifty guards at the shops and the leaders of the crowd knew it, and had the nerve to take advantage of it. The onward march was kept up until within 150 feet of the buildings when the crowd halted, and the leaders went forward alone. They missed the others and stopped to re-anthuse them. "Come on, boys," they shouted. "Come on; don't stop; keep right on into the shops!"

The officers present were powerless, and clubs and stones began to fly around them when they made any resistance. But the crowd was not brought up to the proper pitch and would not follow. This gave time to bring up a large reserve of officers and the crowd was dispersed.

The strikers are not discouraged by Wednesday's developments. The fight has now become one of force, however, and a slight matter may cause a scene of turbulence unequalled in the city.

PROPOSED CONGRESSIONAL ACTION.

An investigation by the House Suggested—O'Neill's Unsettled Opinions. PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—The Record says that General Secretary Turner, of the Knights of Labor received a telegram Wednesday from a prominent official of the order at Washington stating that Governor Curtis of Pennsylvania had demanded the resumption of business; they declined to express an opinion which would commit them to either party, and after declining to attend the citizens' meeting, called by the Knights of Labor for Friday night, the meeting called for the night has been postponed, mainly because of the refusal as above stated. That St. Louis is now probably the next card to be played by the Knights, the indications point to a general walk-out there.

Hardly Known What to Suggest.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 25.—Representative O'Neill of Missouri, the chairman of the house committee on labor, has just returned from St. Louis. While there he looked into the railroad strike. The question is such a serious one that he has not been able to settle upon anything yet that he is ready to propose to congress for the adjustment of such differences between employers and employees. He has, however, some plans which he is formulating, and which he will lay before the president in a day or two, asking for his opinion of them and for some suggestions for the perfection of measures equal to the occasion.

HERE AND THERE ITEMS.

Long Ago Labor Movements.

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—The Public Ledger Thursday celebrates its fiftieth anniversary by looking at the face-simile of its founder. It also reviews the changes that have taken place in the half century.

the long summer day. This came a general movement claiming "0 to 6." These figures were chalked up everywhere and figured in political campaigns. The "0" to "6" was granted an average of about twenty hours, yet no interest suffered. The Ledger intimates that still shorter hours might be granted with equal impunity.

A Muzzle for the Press. STAMFORD, Conn., March 25.—George Baker, editor of The Stamford Herald, a week or two ago published in his paper an article alluding to the members of the Knights of Labor. Thursday he received a letter warning him that he must either alter his unfavorable attitude toward the Knights, or follow the example of other papers and express no opinion at all. The letter threatens to boycott The Herald in case it follows a course opposed to the Knights. The Knights are very strong in this place.

New York, March 25.—The carpenters' strike, involving between 5,000 and 6,000 men, in this city is virtually at an end, not more than twenty men being now out. The demand for $2.50 per day for nine hours has been acceded to.

The 4,000 workers on clocks in this city who are on strike for better hours and pay are winning their fight. Most of the manufacturers are willing to concede, and work will probably be resumed in a few days.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 25.—The bill making it compulsory on the part of street car companies in Baltimore to reduce the number of labor of the conductors and drivers to twelve per day, was unanimously passed by the house of delegates Wednesday afternoon, minus the obnoxious amendment which the companies sought to have attached to the bill, abolishing the park tax.

Kansas City Switchmen Compromise.

KANSAS CITY, March 25.—A compromise was effected Wednesday in the switchmen's strike, the men agreeing on usual hours before the three days' strike. This compromise does not affect the Missouri Pacific. The terms of the agreement will not be made public until the 1st of next month.

Another Theory in the Case.

The Oregon Not Struck by a Schooner at All—Suing for Damages. NEW YORK, March 25.—Nineteen passengers by the Oregon, who complained of the vessel's delay, have filed a suit for recovery of their lost property and to sue the Cunard company for damages. Mr. Garrett will employ divors to recover such of the property as he can recover. He has the evidence from a discharged sailor that the Oregon's compartments were defective. He claims also to have evidence that in order to beat the Fulton, the Oregon departed from her course and probably struck the wreck of the "Hylton Castle" instead of a schooner. He will on those grounds bring suit in the English admiralty court for his clients.

Iowa Legislature.

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 25.—In the senate Wednesday afternoon the bill on the subject of the government for a statement of the state finances, and also many minor bills are in the poor houses. The bill transforming the orphan home at Des Moines into the proposed soldiers home was also defeated, the assertion being made that there were not forty orphans there and forty attendants, the senate held an executive session.

The compulsory education bill was again defeated in the house by a majority of 10. A petition was presented from Asseola post G. A. R. opposing the building of a soldiers home and favoring the relief of veterans at their own homes.

The Iowa legislature was recessed with a motion to reconsider. The governor has reappointed P. A. Day, of Iowa City, railroad commissioner.

Boycotting a Postmaster.

HEANEY, Tex., March 25.—Boycotting seems to be the order of the day in Texas, but one of the most unique boycotts ever known in the south was inaugurated here Monday by the most intelligent and leading citizens against the newly appointed Democratic postmaster, Dr. J. G. Adams. It seems that Dr. Adams has rendered himself so unpleasant to the people during his administration of the office that a number of business men, irrespective of politics, have agreed to mail all their letters on the post-car at the depot, and thus deprive the unhappy postmaster of his revenue. This movement is principally from the amount of business he does.

The Company, Will Pay the Money.

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—The change in the relief plan proposed by the Pennsylvania railroad company are still under discussion, but the officers who have the matter in charge have not yet concluded action upon all the details. General Manager Fugh has therefore issued a notice to the effect that the company will pay the contributions for 35 cents of those who do not withdraw before the 25th inst.

Capt. Crawford Was Murdered.

TUCSON, A. T., March 25.—A report made by Lieut. Mann relating to the surprise of Capt. Crawford by Mexican soldiers, in which the captain was killed, asserts that the killing of Crawford was murder. The Mexicans were taking with them the United States flag, and the former was captured and raised his gun and shot the latter. The statement is corroborated by others of the Americans.

Jaehne Gets Out of the Jug.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Alderman Jaehne was admitted to bail Wednesday evening. Five bondsmen were obtained, who qualified for the necessary amount, $9,000 being in cash and the balance in real estate. When everything had been satisfactorily arranged, Jaehne looked very happy, and left the Marion house, where his papers were signed, with his counsel and several friends.

An Alleged Arrest.

CHICAGO, March 25.—A News says that Leigh Waters, a wood-chopper, who has been at work between Minooka and Channahon during the winter, was arrested here Wednesday night for the murder of Kellogg Nichols. The only suspicion against him is that he seemed to have played a mean part and had for several days been on a drunk.

There Will Be No Draw.

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—The chess game resulted in another victory for Steinitz, which gives him nine games and effectively prevents a draw, with eight games apiece.

Catching Runaway Water Craft.

Catching runaway water craft, either on flood or ice break-ups, is quite a profitable business. We paid $50 each for six of the seven barges that got away from us. They men who catch these craft are frequently storekeepers and have landings. In some cases they do a small business, with ferries or transfers or some thing of that sort, so that they are fully equipped for the work. Then they turn the barges over to our representatives, who say what they want, and the order to pay the same is telegraphed.

Will positively cure piles, tetter, and all skin eruptions. Try this wonderful healer. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. 25 cents. Druggists.

TAKEN FOR A DYNAMITER.

When He Was Only a Cranky Patitioner—Queen Vic's Supposed Peril. LONDON, March 25.—Queen Victoria was present Wednesday morning at the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new ammunition hall of the college of surgeons on the Thames embankment, after which she returned to Buckingham palace. Her majesty was received with the most enthusiastic demonstrations of loyalty by the people army and sea, and coming she was accompanied by the Princess Beatrice and other members of her family. Shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon her majesty left Buckingham palace in a carriage, with Princess Beatrice with the intention of driving through Hyde park. The day was fine and the Constitution hill road, which borders the palace park on the north and leads to Hyde park, was thronged with promenaders. As the queen's carriage passed the people stopped, and many of them cheered her. Suddenly a stabbily-dressed man with a carved expression on his face showed his way through the crowd and advanced toward the royal carriage, and before he could be prevented threw something in the direction of the queen.

Princess Beatrice started to appraise the situation, and immediately turned forward, shielding the person of her mother with her own. The object thrown by the man fell into the carriage and proved to be, not a dynamite cartridge, but simply a piece of paper. The man was quickly seized by the police and hurried off to jail. He was there searched and locked up.

The paper turned out to be a petition written upon a piece of foolscap in a plain round hand, and grammatically phrased, praying in respectful language for redress. The writer complained that he had been robbed of a pension by government officials, and he sought the majesty to interpose her authority to secure to him his rights.

It has been ascertained that the man's name is Charles Brown. He is 43 years of age. Twenty-three years ago he entered the British army as a private in a plain round hand, and grammatically phrased, praying in respectful language for redress. The writer complained that he had been robbed of a pension by government officials, and he sought the majesty to interpose her authority to secure to him his rights.

This incident illustrates once more the case with which royalty, in spite of its guards, might be approached by evil designed persons. The man was not arrested until after he had come near enough to the queen to almost touch her with his hand. Her majesty seemed completely indifferent to the man's presence, and was not even frightened of anybody, as they knew they would be called to strict accountability for the incident. The queen's bravery has never been questioned since her conduct on the occasion of Young O'Connell shooting at her some years ago.

Counting Received with Applause.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 25.—Arguments against the repeal of the brewery and distillery railway charter were raised before the senate committee Wednesday, by Judge Asad Green and others. Arguments for the repeal were made by Messrs. Charles Seward and Roscoe Conkling. When Mr. Conkling arose he was greeted with three rounds of applause from the crowded senate chamber. He argued that the legislature had plenty of power to repeal a charter, and was not obliged to act only on evidence such as would warrant depriving a thief of his liberty. He argued that the power to repeal a charter was as plain as if written all over the document.

The Three-Cent Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, March 25.—A large meeting of news boys, carriers and train boys was held Wednesday night to take action on the recent reduction in the price of the Chicago Tribune, by which they now are unable to secure more than a nominal profit. A committee was appointed to consult with the Tribune people and if no satisfaction is given that paper will be boycotted commencing with next Sunday's issue.

Edie Elmer's Baby Dead.

TRIO, N. Y., March 25.—A daughter which was born to Edie Elmer, the actress, a week ago died Wednesday. Her husband, Mr. Frank Weston, was reading a letter to his wife when looking up he discovered that the baby was dead by its mother's side.

No Funds to Pay Them.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Six hundred men were discharged from the Brooklyn gymnasium Wednesday for lack of funds to pay them.

CITY CONVENTION.

The republican convention for the nomination of candidates for city officers, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it, will be held at the common council room in said city, on Saturday, the 24th day of April, 1893, at 10 o'clock in the afternoon. Each ward will be entitled to delegates as follows: First ward, seven; second ward, five; third ward, four; fourth ward, six; fifth ward, two.

By order of city committee.

R. F. BLISS,
E. W. VANDERLIND,
O. H. RETHERS,
N. SMITH,
A. P. BENNETT,
WILSON LANE,
Republican City Committee.

Dated March 24th, 1893.

The republican city committee in session today recommended that the ward caucuses be held at their respective places of meeting, Friday evening, April 21, at 7:30 o'clock, and that the republican city convention be held at the council rooms Saturday, April 22, at one o'clock p. m.

Directors.

—Polo Saturday, Bay Views against Janesville.

—To-day Mr. O. E. Mosley's condition is a little more favorable.

—Special meeting of the common council this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

—Mrs. Robert Ballou, of the second ward, is now recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

—Rock Lodge, Knights of Labor, of this city, is said to contain a membership of eighty-seven, and the number is rapidly increasing.

—There was a very fair attendance at the meeting of the Choral Union last night. Work was commenced on the "Creation" which will probably be given during the autumn.

—The item published in last evening's Gazette, stating that the superintendent of the Missouri Pacific railroad had been killed at Sedalia, is not confirmed by dispatches of to-day.

—The cellars of the Plumbus block and that of Richardson & Becker, on West Milwaukee street, are flooded, doing considerable damage to the latter, which was stored full of rubber goods.

—Regular convocation of Janesville Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar this evening at Masonic hall. All Sir Knights are requested to be in attendance at 7 o'clock in full uniform. By order E. C. O.

—John Metzinger is the happy father of a baby whose first name is to be James Blaine. Since the arrival of the youngster joy has reigned supreme in the third ward home of Mr. and Mrs. Metzinger.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKee, are now moving into rooms in Mrs. E. C. Gowley's residence on South Jackson street. The house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. McKee will soon be the home of Rev. Dr. Hodge and wife.

—The Beloit Evening Argus, W. F. Palmer, editor and publisher, has made its appearance upon our table. The Argus is a neatly printed six column folio, the same size of the Beloit Daily Free Press, and is well filled with newsy items.

—The Riverside polo club went to Oshkosh this afternoon, and to-night they meet the league team of that city. The team was composed of Campbell, Beeson, Ridgely, Smith, C. Hanson and Brown, Elbert and Sperry being unable to go.

—Falk Bros., of New York, have leased the brick warehouse of Mr. Wm. H. Tallman, and in about ten days will be ready to commence business. It is understood that while they will by considerable tobacco, it will all be "farmer's sorting" as they will have no time to assort leaf, and will take none that is in baffle.

—Miss Carrie Coleman, of Evansville, died last Thursday night and was buried Sunday afternoon. The funeral services were held at the M. E. church at 2:30 p. m. Rev. W. G. Hammer conducted the services. Miss Coleman had been a teacher at the seminary ever since it was opened by the Free Methodists and her absence at that place will be missed by many.

—The democratic city committee has issued a call for a city convention to nominate a democratic city ticket, on Saturday evening, April 24, at the council chamber; and the democratic ward committees publish calls for ward caucuses to nominate ward officers on Thursday evening, April 21, at 7:30 o'clock, at the usual polling places.

—The celebrated Day View polo team of Milwaukee, will play the Janesville Saturday of this week. Our readers will remember that the last time the Bay Views were here the game was a very close and exciting one, lasting nearly an hour and a half, the score standing 3 to 2 in favor of Janesville. Everybody is anxious to see them play our town team. Reserved seats will be on sale at Practice & Evanson's Saturday morning.

—North River street, from Milwaukee street north to the railroad bridge, is in the worst condition of any street in the city. That portion immediately in front of the engine house is a public nuisance that should be abated at once. A road bed of from six to twelve inches of this clay road is not very inviting to a firm company to plow into the first thing upon opening the doors of the engine house—with boots blackened, yet they will do it—if the bell taps, and the mud is allowed to remain.

—Rock River at this point is on a regular "boom," and is slowly rising. Nearly all the dollars along the river bank are flooded, and merchants are preparing to remove their vegetables and other truck stored therein. By a careful measure, most this morning at seven o'clock, we found the water in the river to be within two feet ten and a half inches of the high water mark of April 19, 1891, at which time it was the highest ever known. The water at this time is higher than is usually caused by the spring break up.

—To-day the restaurant formerly occupied by S. E. Carter, passed into new hands, and hereafter the proprietor will be Mr. Wallace Skinner. He is abundantly able to keep up a first class establishment, having proven this during the time of his employment with G. A. Shurtleff and he intends to spare no pains to make a success. Shurtleff's candy will be kept constantly on hand, while through the summer months Shurtleff's celebrated ice cream will soon be the heated customer and cause him to rejoice.

ONE-TWO-THREE.

The Mascoffs lose their extra game by the usual score.

The Mascoffs hardly realized the idea of going back home with a record of three games lost to one club, even if that club was one of the four or five that claim to be champions of Wisconsin.

They went on the floor with a determination to do their best and the game that was played was by all odds the fairest of the series.

The fight at first was around the cage but later on several very pretty plays were made on the open floor. Finally the ball went back to the Maroon cage, Hanson, who played in place of Elbert, passed it back to Beeson, and by him it was tossed into the net. Time 13:22.

Spain of the visitors secured the next goal after one minute and forty-five seconds of play, the ball being driven in by a clean stroke that drew much applause. Ridgely had distinguished himself all through the game, but in the next goal he did especially well. Time after time the ball came whizzing at the net and every time it was coolly swept around out of position. A fine game was played by both teams. Very little slugging was done, the men relying more on team work than on hard hitting. Beeson made the next goal, he taking the ball from Sperry and passing it into the cage. Time 15:57.

In the contest for the last goal Sperry was struck with the ball and fell to the floor, but soon recovered and at the end of ten minutes and fifteen seconds he had caged the ball, giving the Janesvilles a record of three straight games from the champions of Indiana.

The visitors are all perfect gentlemen, and have been very highly spoken of. They play a strong game, but the Janesvilles were a little stronger at every point, as the results show. The summary is as follows:

JANESVILLE. MASCOFFS.
Sperry..... 1
Beeson..... 1
Hanson..... 1
Ridgely..... 1
Elbert..... 1

Resignation of a Pastor.

For some time rumors have been circulating to the effect that Rev. W. A. Evans, of Court Street M. E. church, was contemplating a change in his church relations. The real basis of these rumors, which, as is usually the case in such matters, have not expressed the real state of the case, came to the surface yesterday when Mr. Evans announced to Elder Lugg and the official men of the church his intention of making such a change, and his desire to be relieved of his present pastorate in the near future. This determination on the part of Mr. Evans, though a surprise to his friends, is, he assures us, the result of four years of conscientious and prayerful thinking, during which time he has made fair trials of the Methodist Episcopal and Congregational forms of church government, by two years of ministry under each system. While fully appreciating the many virtues of the M. E. church in general, and the pleasant features of his present pastorate, where the most amiable relations have always existed between him and the people and do still exist, he feels that the peculiarities incident to the Methodist ministry are such as do not accord with his personal tastes and preferences. As he thinks that no man ought to remain in the ministry of a denomination unless he is able to give clear reasons, and reasons perfectly conclusive to his own mind for being there, he is the only straight-forward and honest course for him to pursue. Mr. Evans will, however, remain with the church until his successor is secured and introduced to the work, which will probably be early in May. He will doubtless find work in either the Congregational or Presbyterian churches, and the Gazette bespeaks for him a cordial reception and success in the new field of labor.

Attention, U. A. K.

There will be a large number of recruits at the Post to-morrow evening. Let us have a grand rally of the comrades, and give them a hearty welcome. J. B. GARNES, Com.

—Mr. Sam Lightbody went to Chicago this morning, enroute for his new home at Waboo, Nebraska, at which place he and Mr. Frank Hogoboom will engage in business.

—The Rev. Olin A. Curtis, of Sumner field, M. E. church, Milwaukee, formerly of Court Street M. E. church, of this city, is now spending two weeks at Delavan, reaping and enjoying a needed rest. Summerfield pulpit will be occupied during his absence by the Rev. E. G. Updyke, of Racine.

The Lowell Literary Club.

The regular meeting of the Lowell Literary club was held on Tuesday evening, at the All Souls church, to pursue the study of Dr. Holmes' "Professor at the Breakfast Table."

The first number consisted of a pleasing solo by Miss Charlotte Prichard, which was followed by a reading by Mr. Morris Bostwick.

A well written paper on the life of Oliver Wendell Holmes, by Miss Ida Larve, was well received as were also the papers on "The Character of the Professor" by Miss Lizzie Harris, "Nine Noble Thoughts from the Professor," by Miss Minnie Nowlan, and "Holmes with his Contemporaries," by Miss Agnes Grant.

Miss Lillian Childs DeLong gave "Kabuki," in her usual happy manner. "The One Horse Show," delivered by Mr. George Hayes, and the selection read by Mr. Wells Ray were well received.

Mrs. J. B. Day captivated the audience in her rendition of "The Last Leaf," and "Bill and Joe."

The meeting was closed by a reading by Prof. Keyes from the Professor.

Municipal Court.

The examination of Stephen Eldred, charged with larceny, took place in the municipal court to-day. As was before stated the complainant was Miss Linde Broughton a cousin of the defendant.

The examination was finished at about three o'clock this afternoon and the trial was set for April 13th.

J. S. Anderson, of Edgerton, was arrested this afternoon charged by the Janesville Cross Spring Co. with forging an order for $300. The company claim that last September, Anderson who was then in their employ presented an order for that amount, purporting to be signed by Fitzgibbon Bros., of Monroe, which was cashed. Anderson is highly spoken of and it is to be hoped that he is not guilty.

Died.

Ogden—In Waton, N. Y. Monday, March 1, 1893, at the home of his nephew, O. O. Mead, James Ogden, in the 50th year of his age. James Ogden was the last of the children of Daniel and Zephie Ogden. He was born in Sparta, Sussex county, N. J., on Aug. 8, 1847, and moved to Waton with his parents on March 9, 1892, being then only four and a half years old. He was an early pioneer in Rock county, settling in the town of Milton, which place he left in 1893, returning to his old home at Waton, where he died. Mr. Ogden was a constant reader of the Gazette, having been a subscriber from its first publication in 1845 to the time of his death, his subscription expiring on the very day he died.

Shoppers.

A grand mass meeting was held at the N. W. R. R. depot Tuesday afternoon, which nearly 200 persons were present from Turtle and LaPrairie. The occasion which drew this immense crowd of people together was the meeting of the commissioners appointed by the county judges to accept the road by petitioners in the town line road matter. There were six commissioners, three to act on the town line road and three to act on that part which is in LaPrairie.

J. S. Drayton, of Edgerton, and Solomon Sperry, of the town of Janesville, acted as commissioners on the town line road, and Geo. Shaw, and Abram Phelps, of the town of Rock, and C. O. Fisher, of Center, were the commissioners on the LaPrairie part of the road.

The petitioners were represented by B. F. Danwidder, Esq., and the supervisor by W. J. Sole, Esq. After viewing the ground over the commissioners returned to the station and there heard the arguments of the petitioners, which were warmly welcomed by both parties. Turtle came in on full force and nearly all of them were opposed to the road. LaPrairie was represented by about one third of the company, and the road was accepted by the petitioners. After hearing the arguments the commissioners retired and in a short time rendered their decision. The commissioners on the town line road confirmed the
